Draft Programme

Impact of Social Sciences and Humanities

An international conference on stimulating and assessing societal Impact of Social Sciences and Humanities through interdisciplinary and inclusive approaches

14-16 October 2020 - Online, hosted from Ottawa

AESIS

Network for Advancing & Evaluating the Societal Impact of Science

Partners:
There might not be a more timely moment to discuss the societal impact of Social Sciences and Humanities (SSH) than this fall. The global COVID-19 pandemic has posed and is still posing societal challenges that call for (interdisciplinary) research evidence that can be transformed into practical knowledge for a variety of societal stakeholders. At the same time, it is becoming increasingly apparent that SSH research has an important role to play in identifying, assessing and meeting objectives that touch upon matters such as accountability, equity and inclusiveness. In all, it seems that in these unique times, “change” is the new key word. We and our partners feel that in order to create a positive connotation to this word, it is of the utmost importance to assess, facilitate, and enhance the impact of SSH on society.

To facilitate this discussion, the AESIS Network is proud to announce that its next edition on ‘The Impact of Social Sciences and Humanities on Society’ will be hosted from Ottawa, Canada, and broadcasted to a global audience. Last year, after stimulating editions in Cardiff and Copenhagen, we have brought together research managers, science policy makers, funders, knowledge exchange experts, and other relevant professionals from all parts of the world in Washington DC. Building on the outcomes of the conference and science policy development of recent years, we are thrilled to bring the cross-sectoral conversation of the impact of SSH to Canada.

Canada has been successful in the last years in calling more attention to the position of Canada in their research intensity worldwide. The three granting councils (SSHRC, NSERC, CIHR), alongside other organisations and universities, have been aiming to evaluate (funded) performance on not only academic impact, but also on indicators addressing future challenges, the engagement of indigenous communities, and attention for Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion.

In line with these ambitions, this conference aims to foster a discussion on how one can assess and stimulate impact of SSH through an interdisciplinary and inclusive approach. In order to generate a profound impact of SSH on society, we believe collaborations with parties from business, government and not-for-profits, and engaging with the broader public (including underrepresented and indigenous stakeholders) are all vital aspects in this process.

We start the event with an attempt to both map and assess the impact of SSH; what does impact mean in the context of different segments of society, and through which indicators can you measure it? Then, we will identify different opportunities of collaborations with societal stakeholders, and discuss how co-creations of knowledge with other scientific disciplines may play a role in stimulating impact. Subsequently, we will engage in interactive discussions on which skills can enable one to optimise impact for the sake of the public as a whole and close with some targeted recommendations for the Canadian science policy system and beyond drawn from the conclusions of the meeting.

The momentum of a great need for interdisciplinary research and focus on addressing nation and global societal challenges in Canada’s research eco-system make it an excellent and indeed inspirational context to foster the worldwide discussion on impact. At the same time, several international perspectives can offer valuable and critical evaluations to the current progress and obstacles in Canada. The AESIS Network and its partners are excited to (virtually) welcome you to the ‘Impact of Social Sciences and Humanities 2020’ conference.

Societal Stakeholders & Impact

- Identifying the societal stakeholders when organising Impact of science

SSH, Technological Developments & Society

- How could SSH steer positive impact of big data & AI?

National Assessment Systems

- Policies and methods for impact evaluation (funding) on a national or regional level

SDG’s & Grand Challenges

- How to map impact through contributions resolving Grand Challenges?

AESIS Representative (Chair)

- Amy Cook (Chair), Senior Director of Knowledge Mobilisation, CIFAR, Canada

National Assessment Systems

- David Sweeney (Chair), Executive Chair, Research England, U.K.

SDG’s & Grand Challenges

- Dominique Charron (Chair), Vice-President Programs & Partnerships, International Development Research Council, Canada

Identifier

- Lidia Brito, Regional Science Director for Latin America and the Caribbean, UNESCO, Uruguay
- Toby Smith, Vice-President for Policy, Association of American Universities, U.S.A.
- Carolyn Watters, Chief Digital Research Officer, National Research Council, Canada
- Emile Aarts, Professor of Computer Science, Tilburg University, the Netherlands
- Laura Hillier, Director Performance, Analytics and Evaluation, CFI, Canada
- Bartłomiej Banaszak, Director of Science, Ministry of Science and Higher Education, Poland
- Brian Belcher, Ashoka Research Chair in Sustainability Research Effectiveness, Royal Roads University, Canada
- Zenda Ofir, Co-developer of the RQ+ framework, Stellenbosch University, South Africa
